

CCAPA Conference 2006

Orange County
October 22-25, 2006
Hyatt Regency

Keynote Speakers

Conrad Ricketts

Co-Executive Producer, Extreme Makeover: Home Edition

Conrad Ricketts grew up at a family owned television station in Texas, and has spent his life working in television, and motion pictures. He has been nominated for an Academy Award, and is an two time Emmy winner.

His writing has been published by national magazines, newspapers, and he has been a contributing author on several books.....just so happens the subject matter is exclusively about flyf ishing... His love of art lead him to bring together California artists to create limited edition prints of California's premiere and endangered trout streams.

His underwater still photography hangs in board rooms and living rooms, and he was a pioneer in underwater color videophotography, designing lenses and underwater camera housing.

Conrad has been on Extreme Makeover: Home Edition's creative team from the very first day, and believes that television can go past.... "Kicking people off islands, humiliation, and making them eat bugs".....he is often quoted as saying. "This show is the barn raising of the 1900 hundreds, where your friends, neighbors and community come to help you, and at the end of the day . . . makes a difference."

Ed Chuchla

Ed Chuchla is the Vice President of Corporate Real Estate for The Walt Disney Company. He is responsible for Disney's global real estate portfolio including key hubs in Burbank, Glendale, New York, London, Tokyo and Hong Kong. From demand assessment to lease, acquisition, disposition or development strategies to design and construction, Ed and his global service team endeavor to meet the needs of a wide range of Disney business units.

Prior to his position at Corporate, Ed spent eight years with Walt Disney Imagineering (WDI) where he was responsible for Pre-Development activity for Disney's Parks and Resorts domestic and international real estate holdings. He and a broad group of talented colleagues led site searches and assessment, coordinated site and infrastructure master planning, developed and implemented entitlements strategies, led development related negotiations with relevant government and third party entities and coordinated community / government relations that were associated with each of these efforts.

He received his Masters of Architecture degree from the University of Pennsylvania where he was the recipient of the Master's Thesis Design Prize. Ed completed his undergraduate education at Dartmouth College.

Joel Kotkin

Joel Kotkin An internationally-recognized authority on global, economic, political and social trends, Joel Kotkin is the author of the newly published, critically acclaimed THE CITY: A GLOBAL HISTORY from Modern Library. He is also author of the widely acclaimed, best-selling book, THE NEW GEOGRAPHY, How the Digital Revolution is Reshaping the American Landscape (Random House, 2000).

Kotkin is an Irvine Senior Fellow at the New America Foundation and is a highly respected speaker and futurist. He consults for many leading economic development organizations, private companies, regions and cities. In addition, Kotkin serves as senior advisor to the Planning Center, a major planning, design and environmental consulting firm based in Costa Mesa, California and serves as a visiting lecturer in history, theory and humanities at the Southern California Institute of Architecture in Los Angeles.

For three years, he was Business Trends Analyst for KTTV/Fox Television in Los Angeles where, in 1994, he won the Golden Mike Award for Best Business Reporting on the changing dynamics of the entertainment industry.

Welcome from the Conference Chair

On behalf of the Orange County Section and the CCAPA 2006 Conference Committee, I would like to welcome you to the CCAPA 2006 Conference and to Orange County.

Orange County is quickly evolving from the current perception of suburbia into a collection of vibrant urban centers – this setting will provide an outstanding backdrop for this year's conference. Orange County is an economically diverse county with rapidly growing cities from Brea in the north to San Juan Capistrano in the south, from Newport Beach along the coast to Yorba Linda nestled in the mountains. Development in Orange County is changing in character – its low density single family suburbs are being joined by exciting forms of denser, mixed-use projects that respect Orange County's built heritage and natural environment. It is truly becoming an exciting place to live and work, especially for those interested in planning.

The lineup for this year's CCAPA Conference will offer something for every attendee – sessions that stimulate the mind and mobile workshops that facilitate hands on learning through field experience. Conference sessions have been designed to address issues that are challenging the California planning field today. Mobile workshops combine opportunities to gain and expand planning skills and allowing attendees to experience Orange County first hand. The keynote speakers will provide unique perspectives on the planning field, through the eyes of corporate and global entities.

The CCAPA 2006 Conference is not just a forum to gain knowledge and facilitate learning but is also about networking, meeting peers, and having fun. The action continues into the evenings with receptions: Opening Reception at the Richard Nixon Library on Sunday, Consultants Reception on Monday, the Awards Dinner, and the Diversity/Exclusionary Reception on Tuesday.

I would like to this opportunity to thank the CCAPA 2006 Conference Committee members who have been working hard this past year to coordinate informative sessions, interactive mobile workshops, keynote speakers, group settings, and receptions. This team assembled a conference that attendees will remember for years to come and become a memorable experience for CCAPA members.

Once again welcome and enjoy all that the CCAPA 2006 Conference and Orange County has to offer! You won't believe your eyes!

Sincerely,

Brian J. Jackson, AICP
CCAPA Chair 2006

AMERICAN PLANNING ASSOCIATION

C a l i f o r n i a C h a p t e r

Welcome from the CCAPA President

Welcome to the CCAPA Conference in Orange County! I am excited to be back in Orange County for a conference. This is my third conference in Orange Section and I have to say, each one has been a great experience. I am sure that this conference will be interesting and exciting. The Orange Section has done a wonderful job of obtaining great keynote speakers and a variety of sessions of interest to everyone. The opening reception at the Nixon Library promises to be a great event.

If this is your first CCAPA conference or you are returning because you enjoyed attending one in the past – take advantage of:

- Learning from your colleagues about their successes in planning;
- Reconnecting with old friends and meeting new ones;
- Participating in the many special events and mobile workshops that are offered; and
- Attending the Awards Ceremony and celebrating good planning.

I want to personally thank the Orange Section for all their hard work in putting this conference together. These conferences would not be possible if it weren't for the hard work of the local Section of CCAPA and all the volunteers. The people that work on these conferences do so on their own time because they value the profession and desire to give back to us all. If you see any of the volunteers, please stop and thank them – I sure do!

Sincerely,

Welcome from the Mayor

Dear CCAPA Conference Attendees and Guests:

On behalf of the City of Garden Grove, it is an honor to welcome you to our beautiful city for the 2006 California Chapter of the American Planning Association Annual Conference, October 22-25, 2006.

As the state of California continues expanding at an unprecedented rate, coupled with the challenges and opportunities of such growth, this means the need for new planning perspectives and approaches are paramount.

We are honored that you have chosen Garden Grove for your annual conference and hope you will find us gracious hosts during your stay in our City. May you have an informative and productive conference.

Again, thank you for coming to our community and we hope to welcome you back very soon.

Sincerely,

William J. Dalton
Mayor, City of Garden Grove

Conference Highlights and Special Events

Special Student Session - SS#1

Sunday, October 22 • 10:30 am - 5:30 pm
Terrace

CCAPA recognizes that students have a difficult time attending the full State Conference. To address this issue the 2006 Conference Programs Committee has scheduled a pre-conference program aimed at student planners and new professionals. On Sunday, October 22, 2006, prior to the start of the California Chapter of the American Planning Association State Conference, CCAPA will offer 4 session blocks focused on planning basics for planning students and new professionals from 10:00 am to 5:30 pm. These sessions are free to any planning students who are not able to attend the full conference or any paid conference attendee who arrives early. CCAPA will also host a luncheon for Planning Students on October 22, where the California Planning Foundation 2006 Scholarship winners will be honored.

CPF Workshop - Planning Safe Communities: Lessons from Earth, Wind, Fire, Water & Other Natural Disasters

Sunday, October 22 • 10:30 am - 4:00 pm
Imperial

Join us at this informative session to learn about planning safe communities and be better prepared to pre-mitigate avoidable losses. No community is immune from catastrophic events. Learn techniques to reduce risks and recover faster should a disaster strike. Benefit from the California, Katrina, and international experiences of emergency planning experts, including former L.A. Planning Director Ken Topping; planning consultants Larry Mintier and Charlie Eadie, and nonprofit Sector planner Marjorie Greene.

Opening Reception

Richard Nixon Presidential Library and Museum

Sunday, October 22 • 6:30 - 9:30 pm

Shuttles will be available at the back lobby entrance located at the end of the Grand Ballroom Foyer beginning at 5:45 pm throughout the event.

Calling all delegates! You are invited to join us for an evening filled with all the pomp and circumstance befitting a "National Convention" at the Opening Reception for the CCAPA 2006 Conference. We will be hosting this year's event at the Richard Nixon Presidential Library and Museum.

You will have the opportunity to be our guest at the most active, innovative and visited Presidential center in America. Recently inducted into the national system of Presidential libraries this library and birthplace site provides a walk through half a century of California, U.S. and world history! As an added treat, you will have the unique experience of visiting the Presidential helicopter used by Presidents Kennedy, Johnson, Nixon and Ford.

We will be hosting hearty hors d'oeuvres and dessert in the White house East Room, cocktails as you explore the colonnade walkways and tour the original birthplace home, and a variety of entertainment to add to the enjoyment of your visit. You can even kick up your heels to a live band in the largest public rose garden in Orange County. Join us for this exciting and entertaining evening as we kick off the CCAPA 2006 Conference.

Registration Badges are necessary for entry to all events and sessions and will be monitored. Registration receipts should be carried with you at all times.

Registration Forms will be checked for all Mobile Workshops and Extra Tickets to assure payment. No entry to Mobile Workshops or Meal Functions will be given unless attendee has proof of registration receipt.

Additional meal tickets and mobile workshop tickets can be purchased on-site at the registration desk on a space available basis.

Speaker Registration

All speakers must check-in and pick up their name badges at the registration desk. Speakers/panelists must register for the conference or for the day of their presentation. Access to additional sessions on the day of their presentation only is complimentary. All meals are an additional charge and can be purchased at the registration desk unless a full conference registration has already been purchased.

Conference General Information

Electronic Devices

As a courtesy to meeting attendees, CCAPA requests that all electronic devices (pagers, cell phones, laptop computers, etc.) be turned off during all sessions. If it is necessary to use your cellphone, please turn off audible ringers and step outside the meeting room to an area that will not disturb other attendees. Please check with the hotel to verify which meeting rooms are wired for Internet access.

All sleeping rooms have Internet access for a nominal fee, which is not included in your room rate. Please check with the Hyatt Orange County for the current fees associated with Internet access.

Conference Attire/Minimum Age Requirement

Appropriate attire at all sessions and events in at the CCAPA 2006 Conference is business casual. Some meeting rooms may be chilly so a light sweater or jacket is suggested. Orange County average temperature in October is 75 degrees.

No children under the age of 21 will be permitted at any CCAPA function, which serves alcohol. This will include the Sunday, Monday and Tuesday night functions. Please see the CCAPA website for Child Care arrangements or contact the hotel concierge for assistance for on-site arrangements.

Disability Advisory

Material distributed at the CCAPA 2006 Conference can be made available in alternative formats for persons with disabilities. To request documents in alternative format, please email Lynne Bynder at lbynder@meetingsxceptional.com.

Vehicles with mechanical lifts are available if requested. The Hyatt Orange County meets all ADA requirements. Please contact the hotel directly if you require special needs during your stay.

2007 CCAPA Conference, San Jose

Call for Presentations

Proposal Submittal Deadline: January 19, 2007

Suggested Topics

Transforming the Planning Fabric

Sessions on cooperation, regional and local interests, partnerships, strong neighborhoods, and cross professional collaboration. We invite different points of view.

Finding the Balance: Business, Jobs and Housing

Topics include economic development, redevelopment, financing, smart growth, historic preservation, transit-oriented development, jobs/housing balance, and public and private partnerships.

Diversity in Planning: Inside and Out

Diversity within the planning profession, representing diverse populations, and California demographic trends relating to any specific subgroup such as Latinos, African-Americans, Asians, women, gays/lesbians, disabled, elderly or homeless populations.

Planning 101: Planner Survival Skills

Covering latest technology, ethics, management, private practice, legislation and court rulings, and sharing recent experiences.

Healthy, Green, Safe and Clean

Sustainability, green practices, public health, alternative transportation, natural hazards, emergency preparedness, safe growth, water quality and resources, brownfields, CEQA issues, and open space preservation.

You are invited to participate in the 2007 California Chapter of the American Planning Association (CCAPA) Conference in San Jose by organizing a conference session. The conference typically draws over 1,200 attendees. This conference is suitable for planners, architects, landscape architects, scientists, housing advocates and many other professionals.

This year's theme is Transforming the Urban Fabric

Session Formats

Formats other than traditional presentations are welcome such as: Point/Counterpoint debate; workshops with audience participation; round table; and "talkshow" style. Sessions will be 75 minutes in length. The sessions will be held September 30 - October 3, 2007.
