Real Estate Finance and Development Pro Formas

Additional fee - $125 conference attendees, $175 non-attendees, Lunch provided

CM I 6.0

More and more, planners are being asked to consider economic issues such as development feasibility, fiscal impact, and economic development potential. Having a firm grasp of real estate finance is critical to successfully determine how a development proposal affects the long-term revenue stream and economic development goals for a community. This session will provide valuable hands-on experience in understanding financial feasibility for a range of real estate developments from the developer's perspective.

VOLUNTEER SERVICE OPPORTUNITY
 Ballroom Foyer

The volunteer service program offers APA California conference attendees opportunities to make public service contributions. Under the theme "Caring for CHOC," APA California has partnered with Children's Hospital of Orange County to provide activity kits for its patients. These activity kits are an integral component of CHOC's Child Life Department in providing comfort for children who are awaiting medical attention or in post-surgery recovery. Through the generosity of various donors, we have collected an assortment of coloring books, crayons, stickers, and other items. Conference attendees will play an important role by assembling these goods for delivery to CHOC.

In addition to assembling activity kits, volunteers can also prepare and decorate postcards for CHOC patients. Message themes will include: "Happy Birthday," "Happy Transplant," and "Happy Last Chemo." Volunteer contributions ultimately help in CHOC Child Life Department's goal of normalizing the hospital experience. By making the medical process and equipment less strange or foreign, patients and their families are able to focus on feeling better.

With the theme "One Sight, One Vision," conference attendees have the opportunity to donate any unwanted sunglasses and prescription glasses. All contributions will be given to the non-profit group "OneSight," whose mission is to provide access to quality eyecare and eyewear for millions of underserved people worldwide.

Registrants can stop by this activity table and participate in bagging and/or writing a get well card or bringing glasses or sunglasses on Sunday to the conference.

Come help make a difference.

Ethics Jeopardy: Testing What We Know About Ethics

CM | 1.5 | ETHICS

This session will be a great refresher or in some cases an opportunity to become acquainted with the Code of Ethics. As practicing planners it is important to know what the Code actually says about Ethics, rather than work off of what we "think" is ethical and what is not. During this game show type session, we will start with Planners' Jeopardy and then break into discussion groups where the audience will have an opportunity to test their knowledge of Ethics, and then learn and challenge themselves, the panel and each other through friendly debate of Ethical situations. A great review of the Code will be given and real-life scenarios will take the Code and bring it to life. This is a fun, lively and interesting session and a great way to refresh and learn about ethics in our profession.

More than Just Exercise: What Biking Can Do to Build Community and Foster Economic Development (CPF Session)

CM | 1.5

As there is an increasing interest in leading healthy lifestyles and finding alternative means of transportation in our cities, the popularity of biking has also risen as an attractive and desired feature in our communities. In this session, we will explore how biking has been integrated into the community through the organization of large citywide events such as CicLAvia and is also being used by smaller neighborhood groups to create community pride and investment. Building upon the two CPF bike tours hosted earlier this year in the Cities of Long Beach and Davis, this session will explore how bike-related events, activities or improvements can contribute to the economic sustainability of a community by supporting local businesses while also investing in the social and recreational aspects of a community.

Plenary Luncheon Keynote Speaker
Shaheen Sadeghi, Founder, LAB Holding

CM | 1.0

In 1991 following a successful career in the fashion industry, Shaheen created and founded LAB enterprise. His first project, the LAB Anti-Mall, was an overwhelming success that answered a need for a youth-driven shopping experience. This development breathed new life into an abandoned factory and offered an outlet for local students, emerging artists and musicians, and like-minded retail entrepreneurs. The LAB has become the creative heart of the blossoming Sobeca arts district in Costa Mesa. In 2002, the CAMP was opened as an environmentally focused shopping campus highlighting individual sports and progressive eating choices. Recently, he opened the Anaheim Packing District – a restoration of two historic buildings and addition of a community park. The project was inspired by European experiences where food, art, culture and educational programs are integrated.

While at the conference make sure to set aside time to visit one, if not all, of the LAB Holdings' projects. They are definitely worth your time!

Celebrating California's Adventures in Planning

This year's Awards brunch will highlight the best planning policies, project and people throughout the State. You will want to get a front table to enjoy the show, celebrate with friends and learn more about great achievements in the profession. The purpose of the APA California Awards Program is to encourage quality in planning and increase the public's awareness of the planning profession through recognizing outstanding achievement in the planning field.

There will be special surprises and SWAG that you can only get by attending this year's Awards Brunch. The highlights of the planing process and products will be discussed and presented visually. In addition, professional planners and laypersons, including volunteers and elected officials, will be honored for demonstrations of dedication, service and planning achievement. The work they accomplished and the strategies they found effective will be noted. Attendees will be able to take away knowledge and resource links from jurisdictions and individuals who have found solutions to problems they themselves face.

Doing the Right Thing: Ethical Practices for a Diverse Population

CM | 1.5 | ETHICS

Diversity abounds in the planning environment. Issues of race, culture, language, and gender can divide us or be the foundations for building bridges that make the community planning process more effective and our communities stronger. This session examines some of the changing demographic and diversity trends in California and the importance of having the profession respond with new paradigms for planning practice which reflect the planner's ethical commitment to social justice and ethical planning practice. Using the AICP Code of Ethics and emphasizing the Code's aspirational components, attendees will explore options for how they can respond to these ethical challenges.
