

American Planning Association
Making Great Communities Happen

American Planning Association's
National Planning Conference
April 2–5, 2016 | Phoenix

PLANNING'S NEW LANDSCAPE

Planning Leadership Institute: Be a Champion for Change

Saturday, April 2, 2016 | 7:30 a.m.–5:30 p.m. | CM | 8

$175, including networking breakfast

WHAT DOES IT MEAN—AND WHAT DOES IT TAKE— TO EXERCISE LEADERSHIP IN CHANGING TIMES?

APA's Planning Leadership Institute is ideal for directors, managers, and senior-level planners who need simple, practical ways to manage change. If you want to have real impact on the issues that matter most, this institute is for you.

Lessons in Leadership

Learn to be a champion for change in a day of intensive training and professional reflection. A distinguished faculty will guide you through a process of inquiry, practice, storytelling, and peer-to-peer sharing. You'll discover:

- An effective set of practices for leading in uncertain times
- How to renew passion and purpose for yourself and others
- Tools for managing conflict inside and outside your organization
- Skills for exercising leadership in complex political environments
- Paths to overcome obstacles that block meaningful change

Take your leadership to a new level. Come to the 2016 Planning Leadership Institute and come away informed, invigorated, and ready to inspire.

For more information and to register, visit planning.org/conference or contact Ann Dillemoth, AICP, at adillemoth@planning.org.

Sponsored by APA's City Planning and Management Division

Past Participants Say ...

"Amazing relevance to my current situations ... beyond my expectations"

"Content was excellent—a good combination of pushing us and letting us come along"

"A great day of reflection and a place to know you belong to a group of professionals with similar challenges"

Faculty

Facilitator Eric Klein, a best-selling author and teacher, is a leading voice for greater spirit, meaning, and authenticity in the workplace.

S. Gail Goldberg, AICP, is executive director of ULI-Los Angeles and the former planning director of Los Angeles and San Diego.

Gil Kelley, AICP, is planning director for the city and county of San Francisco. He advises cities on strategic planning and partnership development.

Jeff Levine, AICP, is planning director of Portland, Maine, and managed completion of an award-winning comprehensive plan in Brookline, Massachusetts.

Theresa O'Donnell, AICP, is director of sustainable development and construction for the City of Dallas and serves on the Greater Dallas Planning Council board.