Brian Mooney, FAICP – Board Member

Brian is the Managing Principal of the Community Planning and Landscape Architecture Division of the Rick Engineering Company. He has over 45 years of experience specializing in community planning, public outreach, environmental analysis, research, and development of public policy. His extensive experience includes preparation of city and county comprehensive plans, new town master plans, downtown revitalization plans and development codes for public and private clients throughout California, Arizona, Washington and Colorado. These plans focus on integrating sustainable environmental and cultural values into land use, mobility and design policy.

Brian received a BA in Anthropology from San Diego State University and an MA in Urban History for the University of San Diego. He currently serves as an Adjunct Professor at the New School of Architecture and Design for City Planning and annually lectures to Southern California AICP candidates on ethics in the profession. Brian is a member of the College of Fellows of the American Institute of Certified Planners, Chair of the San Diego/Tijuana ULI District and on the Board of Trustees for the San Diego History Center. Brian has won numerous awards for his work including a documentary film he wrote, produced and narrated on the original 1907 Nolen Plan which guided San Diego's growth and development for over 50 years.
